With the Dragon Balls scattered and useless for one year, Goku heads to Master Roshi's island for training. But another boy, Krillin, arrives too.

15. LOOK OUT FOR LAUNCH

Goku and Krillin travel on the Flying Nimbus looking for a girl for Master Roshi. On the way, they rescue an innocent girl named Launch. They take her back to Kame House, unaware that whenever Launch sneezes, she transforms into an uncontrollable warrior.

16. FIND THAT STONE!

Master Roshi takes Goku, Krillin and Launch to a larger island to begin the boys' training. He starts by timing Goku and Krillin's speed. As a test to see who gets dinner, Roshi throws a stone with a symbol on it into the jungle to see who gets it first.

17. MILK DELIVERY

The training continues, though it's a bit unusual. First, Master Roshi has Goku and Krillin deliver milk all across the island, with the last stop being on top of a mountain. All this and they'll have to do it every day until the World Martial Arts Tournament.

18. THE TURTLE HERMIT WAY

The rigorous training for the World Martial Arts Tournament continues. Now Goku and Krillin do construction work, move boulders, evade bees and swim laps. It gets even harder when they have to wear 50 pound turtle shells on their backs.

19. THE TOURNAMENT BEGINS

After eight months of training, it is time for the World Martial Arts Tournament. As Master Roshi signs them up, Goku and Krillin meet up with Yamcha, Bulma, Puar and Oolong. 24. KRILLIN'S FRANTIC ATTACK!

The semi-finals have begun as Jackie Chun and Krillin's match begins. Jackie's strength and speed may just be too much for the young warrior, preventing him from winning the match.

The final match of the World Tournament has begun, with Goku and Jackie Chun primed to fight. Student and master will pull out whatever tricks they can to be victor.

27. NUMBER ONE UNDER THE MOON

The final match has gone on for hours as both fighters match each other in every way. Jackie has no choice but to use his 'World Surprise Attack', which renders Goku under great pain and nearly forces him to give up the match. But at that moment, Goku spots the newly risen full moon, turning the tables on a now frantic Jackie Chun.

28. THE FINAL BLOW

To stop the transformed Goku's monstrous rampage, Jackie Chun readied his Kamehameha Wave. Instead of hitting Goku as the others thought, Jackie aimed for and destroyed the moon. 34. CRUEL GENERAL RED

Colonel Silver's troops scour land, sea, and air in search of the elusive Dragon Ball, but what they find is Goku! With the help of his Dragon Radar, Goku pinpoints the location of the ball and plucks it from under the noses of the Red Ribbon Army. But he doesn't get far. Goku's escape attempt brings him face to face with Colonel Silver himself!

35. COLD RECEPTION

A frozen Goku has been carried off somewhere by a little girl. Meanwhile, the Red Ribbon Army continue searching for Goku and his Dragon Ball. The girl, Suno, brings Goku to her home, Jingle Village. There, she and her mother unfreezes Goku and gives him hot cocoa. After beating up some soldiers, they tell him about the Red Ribbon Army's western fortress here, the Muscle Tower and their hostage, the chief of Jingle Village. Goku then volunteers to rescue the chief and put an end to General White's evil deeds.

36. MAJOR METALLITRON

In an effort to repay the kindness of Suno and her mother, Goku vows to rescue their kidnapped Village Chief from the Red Ribbon Army's heavily fortified Muscle Tower. Goku storms the tower, but the hulking third floor guard, Major Metallitron, is determined to halt his ascent - permanently!

37. THE NINJA MURASAKI IS COMING!

Goku's quest to save the Village Chief from Muscle Tower is in danger of coming to an untimely end when he confronts the fourth-floor guard, Ninja Murasaki. Known as the "Messenger of Death," this villain has an arsenal of lethal techniques at his disposal, and he plans to use every one of them as he leads Goku through a treacherous obstacle course where nothing is as it seems!

38. FIVE MURASAKIS

Fighting a ninja is difficult. Fighting five? Impossible! Those are the odds Goku must face when Murasaki unveils his deadly trick of Separation! And with five sword-wielding Murasakis on his tail, he'll be lucky to stay in one piece!

39. Mysterious Android No.8

Proving to be no match for Goku's skills on his own, Murasaki makes a desperate call for reinforcements. He summons the Red Ribbon Army's secret weapon, the monstrous Android Number 8! But there seems to be a flaw in the Android's design. He hates violence! Number 8 defies his creators by teaming up with Goku. Together, they must work to survive General White's impossible tower maze.

40. HORRIFYING BUYON

Goku and Android 8 finally reach the top of Muscle Tower, and confront General White. He has one last trick up his sleeve, however, and opens up a trapdoor beneath Goku and Eighter, dropping them down into the mysterious "Fifth Floor", which looks like a grimy sewer. There they encounter Buyon, a disgusting purple blob-like monster. None of Goku's attacks seem to faze it, so eventually Goku knocks open a hole in the wall, and freezes Buyon, and then breaks him into pieces. With that done, they open the hatch and jump back up to face General White.

41. THE FALL OF MUSCLE TOWER

Goku easily beats up General White, and demands that he frees the village chief. White says he will, but secretly slips a pistol into his pocket. He opens the door to the village chief, and then holds a gun to his head. Goku and Eighter are stuck about what to do, and White tells Eighter that he'll spare him if he proves his loyalty by killing Goku. Eighter's hatred of violence keeps him from doing anything at all, and Goku jumps out to save the chief. White shoots him in the chest, knocking him back. He seems dead, so, in rage, Eighter lashes out and slams White. The chief runs, and Eighter picks up Goku and escapes from the tower. Outside, Goku seems to still be barely conscious, and Eighter rips the bricks out of the bottom of the tower, causing it to collapse. He and the Chief race back to the village to administer some medication to Goku.

42. THE SECRET OF DR. FLAPPE

Goku, Eighter, and the Village Chief return to Suno's house. The chief offers Eighter a home in the village, but Eighter declines because there is a bomb in his body. They decide to go visit Dr. Flappe, a scientist who may be able to remove the bomb. However, things don't go as planned when Murasaki comes out from the rubbles of Muscle Tower and is rapidly heading towards Dr. Flappe's house in an attempt to get revenge on Eighter. What will become of Eighter?

43. A TRIP TO THE CITY

Goku reaches West City, and tries to track down Bulma to get his Dragon Radar fixed. He quickly learns that you can't get anything in this city without money, so enters a fighting contest with a famous fighter to win some money. Afterwards, he's approached by thugs, who he easily takes care of. He eventually finds a policeman, who happily takes him to Bulma's house for him (after a series of gruelling questions).

44. MASTER THIEF, HASKI

Goku enters Bulma's house, finally meeting her dad, the creator of the Capsule Corp., and her ditzzy mother. Bulma introduces her latest invention, the Micro Band, which allows her to shrink to a tiny size. She quickly fixes the Dragon Radar for Goku, and asks if he wants to go to the amusement park with her. Goku doesn't really know what it is, so she just drags him along.

Meanwhile, the Red Ribbon Army sends out Haski, one of their underlings, to track down Goku. She partners up with the thugs he beat up on his way to Bulma's house, and they begin to follow Bulma and Goku, who are headed to Yamcha's house.

Once there, Bulma argues with Yamcha a bit over his frequenting with many women. Goku decides to invite him, as well as Oolong and Puar, to the amusement park with them, despite Bulma's whining.

45. DANGER IN THE AIR

Goku and the gang reach the "Dream Land" amusement park. Haski, however, has followed them there. While Goku pesters the clerk about what a ticket is, Haski demonstrates her thieving abilities by stealing three tickets from bystanders. Inside the park, Bulma refuses to go anywhere with Yamucha. They eventually come to a fortune teller, which is Haski in disguise, who insists on reading Goku's fortune. Since Yamucha is so weak around women, it's easy for her to trick Goku into handing over the Dragon balls. After some chaos inside the tent, Bulma arrives, to see Yamucha's arms around Haski (when his real intent was to take back the Dragon balls). Extremely pissed, Bulma hits both Yamucha AND Haski. Haski doesn't give up, threatening to blow up Dream Land with a bomb she hid somewhere in the park. She escapes, and a high-speed sky chase occurs between her jet pack and Goku's Flying Nimbus. She's eventually cornered and smashed into a wall. Goku recovers the Dragon balls, and decides to eat the detonator to disable it. After peace is restored to Dream Land, Goku and Bulma finally begin their journey for the rest of the Dragon balls.

GENERAL BLUE SAGA

46. BULMA'S BAD DAY

Goku and Bulma finally set off on their quest for the Dragon balls. Following the dragon radar, they realize the 4-star ball is at the bottom of the ocean. They stop at a nearby island to use as their HQ, which, incidentally, is the same island that General Blue is using for his headquarters. As Goku tries to dive down to the bottom of the sea, Bulma is attacked by two of Blue's men. She manages to thwart them, and Goku quickly comes to her rescue (after realizing that the sea is too deep to swim down). They decide that they need to find a submarine to reach the Dragon ball in the ocean, and Goku suggests heading to Master Roshi's to borrow his. Bulma is strongly against the idea, but goes along anyway for the sake of the Dragon balls.

47. KAME HOUSE: FOUND!

Goku and Bulma manage to track down Kame Island, and head down for a visit. To their dismay, Master Roshi tells them that Krillin and Launch took the sub out to buy groceries. He tells them he'll let them have it, in return for Bulma's Micro Band. She happily hands it over, thankful he didn't ask for anything more 'risqué'. While Goku is waiting for Krillin and Launch to return, Bulma goes into the bathroom to 'wash up'. Master Roshi tries to sneak a peek with the help of the Micro Band, but ends up getting flushed down the toilet. Eventually, after a scuffle at the marketplace in which Launch sneezed and transformed, Krillin and Launch return. After dinner, Krillin decides to accompany Goku and Bulma on their journey, and they set off into the sea.

48. DEEP SEA BLUE

Goku, Bulma, and Krillin enter the sea with the submarine. They search around for a while, following the radar, until they discover an underwater cave. At the same time, however, General Blue is sending half of his army to attack the Kame House, and taking half of his army with him to snatch the dragon ball underwater. He thinks that Master Roshi is the scientist who built Bulma's radar, and tells them to take the old man alive. Roshi, meanwhile, is still planning to sneak a peek and Launch with the Micro Band. General Blue heads underwater, and starts firing missiles at Goku and the gang, cornering them inside the cave.

49. ROSHI SURPRISE

Roshi is still trying to lure Lunch into the bathroom. He accidentally causes her to sneeze, turning her into the sadistic Launch. After some arguments, he is forced to give her a massage and make dinner for her. Eventually, Tortoise uses a palm tree to make her sneeze again, and revert. Soon, the RR Air Force arrives at the Kame House, and demands that Roshi hands over the Dragon balls and the device. Roshi is surprised, because he didn't know that Bulma had left her Dragon balls here. After making a fool of the fat general, he uses some Kame technique to dispose of the army. He is almost through, when the last man grabs Lunch as a hostage. Roshi backs up, and there seems to be no alternatives. Suddenly, Tortoise uses the palm again, causing Lunch to transform into Launch, now more pissed off than ever. Word gets back to the RR Headquarters that the whole 2nd Blue Team was disposed of by a kid, infuriating General Red. General Blue, however, is busy chasing Goku and the gang through the cave. Goku finds a skull on the pathway, scaring Bulma and Krillin. They ask Goku where he found it, and he points over to a skeleton clad in pirate attire. This is when Bulma and Krillin realize they came into the pirate cave that Roshi had been rambling on about earlier. They jump for joy (Bulma, once again, only thinking for herself) and continue into the cave, General Blue close behind them.

50. THE TRAP IS SPRUNG

Goku, Bulma, and Krillin venture deeper into the cave, when they find a large hallway filled with holes. Krillin finds that when a hole on the floor is stepped on, an arrow will shoot out of a random hole on the walls. Goku decides to jump across, and Krillin barely makes it. As for Bulma, she is dragged over with the Power pole screaming and crying. Meanwhile, General Red is having a portrait painted of himself. The painting turns out to portray him as a gigantic man and General Black as a shrimp. (The exact opposite of reality.) Black bends down to look at the painting, and General Red yells at him: "You're never supposed to bend down and talk to me!" Back at the cave, Goku and the gang have eluded the trap successfully and General Blue leads his army onward. He motivates his men by giving them a long speech about the pride of the Red Ribbon army and whatnot and they charge ahead, leaving him dawdling behind. Disturbing screams and cries echo throughout the cave. General Blue grows even scared of Goku and can hardly bear to see what fate has befallen his men. He is horrified to see all his men who ran into the trap and got skewered, leaving him by himself. As he surveys the scene, he finds a secret passage to the side that bypasses the hallway of death. Goku and Co. journey deeper into the cavern, nearly falling down a pit of lava but Goku's Power Pole saves them again. They finally come to a very large room which appears to be a docking bay of some sort, and a large submarine sitting in it. They wonder what kind of a place they have stumbled onto, when Goku senses something or someone is nearby -- but whatever it is it's not human.... General Blue comes out of a door on the other side and hatches a devious scheme - He'll wait for them to do all the dirty work, then steal the Dragon Ball from them and escape. The mystery monster reveals itself as a large skeleton-like robot, who begins to attack the three adventurers!

51. BEWARE OF ROBOT

Goku, Bulma, and Krillin continue to struggle against the Pirate's Robot, not doing very well. Eventually, Bulma runs an explosive truck into it. She jumps out at the last second, and it knocks the robot into the water and explodes. Thinking it's dead, Bulma takes out her Dragon Radar, but the robot's tail creeps out of the water and grabs Goku and pulls him in. Goku gets out, but a wall crumbles on top of him and knocks him out. Bulma and Krillin are chased into a nearby structure, where they find the pirate's control centre, and the dead captain. Bulma tries to figure out how the ancient computers work, but it's no use. While General Blue goes over to inspect the KO'ed Goku, he wakes up, and uses his Power Pole to raise himself to the top floor of the structure. The robot has Bulma and Krillin cornered, and sets the structure on fire. Goku saves them and they slide down the Power Pole, while Goku climbs to the top. The robot jumps out after them, but Bulma and Krillin are already running down the next hall, out of the main room. Goku dives onto the robot from the top of the building, crushing its head and destroying it. Meanwhile, General Blue follows Bulma and Krillin down the winding hallway. At turns, Krillin marks the ground to show Goku the way when he catches up with them, but Blue changes them to go the opposite direction. The structure explodes, and Goku runs down the hallway, going the wrong way. Krillin and Bulma reach the end of the hallway, and, checking the radar, Bulma finds that the Dragon ball is below them, in a well filled with water. She and Krillin jump in, General Blue close behind them.

52. THE PIRATE TREASURE

Goku reaches a dead end, when he falls through a hole in the floor, into an octopus's room, who's bent on having HIM for dinner. Meanwhile, Bulma and Krillin resurface at a bank in a cave, and find three treasure chests and a large statue with 10 arms, each holding a sword. It begins to attack them, and Krillin heroically guards Bulma. After the statue finishes its onslaught, Krillin opens the middle chest first, revealing a trap. He dodges the machine gun fire (because of his lack of height) and opens the left chest next, for a key. They start to use it on the statue to open the next room, when General Blue jumps out of the water. He demands that they give him the key, and he proceeds to beat up Krillin. When he plans to finish Krillin off by dropping a large rock on his head, Goku jumps out of the water and saves Krillin. General Blue prepares to fight. . .

53. BLUE, BLACK AND BLUE

Goku begins to fight General Blue. Eventually, Blue paralyzes Goku, and gets a shotgun with a DynoCap, preparing to shoot Goku, Krillin, and Bulma. At the last second, a mouse runs across his foot, scaring the crap out of him, and he drops the gun. Goku breaks his paralysis and punches out Blue. The cave really starts to collapse now, and the statue is destroyed, revealing one last waterway passage. Goku dives in to find the Dragon ball, and Krillin and Bulma swim back. Goku eventually finds the 3-star ball, and takes it back up. Krillin and Bulma reach the large Sub room, but all the exits are blocked. They are forced to climb into a small submarine, and they don't know if Goku made it or not. Goku is ready to run, but has to find the mouse that scared Blue earlier, and save it. He puts it in his mouth because his pockets are full, and runs back. The walls around the large cove collapse, and Blue wakes up, seeing a large treasure room. He runs in greedily, and is buried beneath rubble. Back at the Sub room, Bulma and Krillin are getting more impatient, and Bulma insists that they leave without Goku to save themselves.

54. ESCAPE FROM PIRATE CAVE

Bulma and Krillin make their way to the submarine and begin their escape. Bulma thinks that Goku is dead. As the cave is about to collapse, Goku makes it out of the cave and jumps onto the submarine, taking the Dragon ball with him. Now together, they must escape the Pirate Cave, which could collapse at any minute...

55. PENGUIN VILLAGE

General Blue enters the Kame House and ties up the surprised Goku, Krillin, Master Roshi and Bulma. General Blue plants a detonator set to explode in five minutes next to them and leaves with the recently collected Dragon Balls. Fortunately, Launch returns and unties Goku so he can dispose of the detonator just in time. Goku then takes off on the Flying Nimbus to retrieve the Dragon Balls from General Blue. The high speed chase leads the two to a mysterious town.

56. STRANGE VISITOR

Goku meets a girl named Arale before rushing off after the Dragon Balls. General Blue has survived the crash into the mountain and escapes before Goku arrives. Goku again encounters Arale (who ran all the way there) and accepts her help to find the Dragon Balls. After General Blue causes trouble for residents of Penguin Village, Goku tries using the Dragon Radar to find him, but finds it's broken. Worse, Goku doesn't know how to get back home for Bulma to repair it. Arale then tells him she knows someone who can fix it, Sembei. But unknown to them, General Blue is on his way to Sembei's as well.

57. ARALE VS. BLUE

With the Dragon Radar repaired, Goku already locks onto something. He searches around Sembei's place, unaware of General Blue lurking around. When he reveals himself, General Blue freezes Goku again. Before leaving on Sembei's plane with the Dragon Balls and Radar, General Blue decides to finish off Goku. However, Arale leaps in and shows General Blue how she plays tag, sending him flying. With the Dragon Balls recovered and a new Radar, Goku says goodbye to his new friends and resumes his search for the four star Dragon Ball.

When he returns in his plane, Yellow captures Bora's son and threatens to drop him unless he gets the Dragon Ball. But Goku arrives in time to defeat Yellow and save Bora's son. Master Roshi suggests they should ask Fortune Teller Baba (Master Roshi's sister) for help locating the seventh Dragon Ball. Puar, Krillin and Yamcha accompany Goku on his journey to find Fortune Teller Baba. During a brief pit-stop, Goku's uniform starts to rip so he asks for a new one to be made. Soon after, Goku brings Upa along and joins up with the gang. Now the journey is finally underway.
